

TENTH YEAR. WAS ALMOST A RIOT Christian Endeavors Get Into Trouble With Romanists.

INSULTED THEIR RELIGION French Students Carried Flags Inside the Church and Police Were Called to Remove Them.

MONTREAL, July 8.—Saturday has been the most eventful day so far of the Christian Endeavor convention. This statement is considered as an explanation in various ways. It was the eventful day par excellence to the younger delegates in the city, for the junior rally was held in the American Presbyterian church. It was a very eventful day to those of a religious and enthusiastic temperament, for the denominational rallies were held in seventeen of twenty churches.

Again it was eventful because the incident on the Champ de Mars last night in which some demonstrators were stoned and this was freely discussed and commented upon. Not alone were the sleeping delegates in their discussion of this matter. It was brought up by President Clarke in one of the sessions and the convention's sympathy was at once withdrawn from the delegation when it was learned that one of their members had given rise to the row by being stoned in a riotous and lawless manner.

An Indian Stood. A United Press correspondent learns that this statement was made by one of the Colorado delegates, whose name has not been ascertained. Another delegate, who heard the remark, made a strong speech in disavowal, but the mischief had been done. This need soon by the young people rally. A unique feature, making an attack on Catholicism, resulted last night in one shower of stones. Today it brought around the approaches to the tent a lot of tract distributors, who industriously circulated a number of Catholic tracts.

Another feature of the day's proceedings was the exclamation by Dr. Clarke that the convention was not an executive one and not responsible for individual utterances such as called out the demonstration against members last night. He declared that they could not hurt the religious feelings of any one, and in this was sustained unanimously by the convention which arose and cheered in indication of its indorsement of his expressions.

In the Second street Presbyterian church, T. H. H. of Hamilton, Ont., proposed the following resolution: "That the conference recommend and urge that at future conventions one session be set apart for the discussion of temperance and prohibition."

His Over Temperance. Miss Caroline H. Brookfield, secretary and treasurer of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor union, was the presiding officer, and refused to give to the temperance committee, on the ground that the committee had no jurisdiction, and declared the session at an end. The majority of the committee had different views, however, and deposed Miss Brookfield and replaced her by the Rev. Mr. H. H. of Hamilton, who was the majority of the committee. But when "temperance" was called in the tent it was not Mr. H. H. who responded. It was the deposed Miss Brookfield, and she suppressed all mention of the temperance committee, which accordingly was not read at the meeting. The affair caused commotion.

After luncheon the delegates betook themselves to the different denominational rallying points and to the American Presbyterian church, where the young people rally, a unique feature of the latter rally was the entrance of a dozen young girls represented by their costumes that number of foreign countries. An address, "The Raw Material of a Great Life," by the Rev. J. W. Lee of Atlanta, Ga., brought the substitute meeting to a close.

Guarded by Police. The committee meeting in the hall was guarded by policemen. This step was taken because of the amount of rumors and talk about the Champ de Mars meeting. Secretary Burr presided. Philadelphia was announced as the winner of the local committee's contest for 1905, having traveled 350,000 miles.

The Rev. George A. Wells of Minneapolis, then delivered his address on "International Fellowship." At this juncture 300 French students marched up to the door of the drill hall bearing a couple of French flags. They then entered the hall, and the French flag was captured by the bears and thumped their heads together, whereupon their companions raised a great howl, but the police dispersed the would-be rioters. Shortly after 10 o'clock the meeting dispersed without any collision with that mob of fully 1,000 people that filled the street in front of the church.

Forty-Nine Dead. Pioneer Still Has 118 Tornado Victims in the Hospital. FRANKFORD, Iowa, July 8.—There are now in the various hospitals here 118 people. Of this number ten or twelve will die. Fifty are severely injured, but they stand a better chance of recovery than of dying. Fifteen are quite badly hurt, and the balance have merely cuts and bruises, most of them painful, but not dangerous. Sixty-three have died, the death toll reaches a total of forty-nine. This does not include the dozen or more who were killed out in the country in various places, but merely those who were within the corporate limits of Frankford when the cyclone swept down upon the town. Henry Giesler, who had several bones broken and who was injured internally, was one of those who succumbed today. The other was a lady. The 113 persons now in the hospitals are not by any means all that were injured. Fully fifty who were hurt, and many of them seriously, too, were taken away to friends and relatives to be attended to by them.

Frankford is full of people who are looking along with some or others, or who have their arms in slings or bandages over their heads and faces. It is impossible to say that they are all suffering from the effects of the tornado, but it is probable that many of them are.

GOES WITH A RUSH Home Rule Bill Being Pushed Through the House.

INDIA'S ATTITUDE OF SILVER Played Havoc With English Trade.

MERCHANTS AND BANKERS ARE GROWING APPREHENSIVE OF RESULTS.

LONDON, July 8.—The new program of the government has worked like a charm. On Thursday night Clause 3, 6, 7 and 8 were pushed through the committee stage so swiftly that the opposition hardly had time to breathe between votes. This exhibition of the smooth workings of the government machine has given new courage and hope to the friends of home rule. The petty mutiny of the radicals on Thursday evening excited no apprehension, nor does the belligerence of John Redmond and his little band of Parliaments. Altogether the liberals feel more confident than at any time since the Whitehall recess, although nobody doubts that there still are difficulties ahead, on which the government may go to pieces. The culmination of the struggle will be next week on Clause 9. This clause has been named the "in and out" clause by the Tories. It provides for the retention of the 103 Irish members in the house of commons, but deprives them of the right to vote on questions exclusively concerning Great Britain. Both of these provisions have been the subjects of much discussion and both are regarded with divided opinions by the liberals themselves. So far Mr. Gladstone has declined to tell the house just what alterations he proposes to make in Clause 9.

PLATFOM CAVED IN. Coney Island Race Goes, Have a Narrow Escape From Death.

NEW YORK, July 8.—An accident occurred on the elevated railway at West Brighton Beach, Coney Island, this afternoon in which fifteen persons were injured. It happened at 2:45 o'clock and caused a great deal of trouble. A train was waiting for the train to carry them to the Brighton Beach race track. As the two cars were pushed into the station by the small engine all were in a great hurry to get aboard and rushed for the rear car. Suddenly there was a terrific crash, the train broke in two, followed by loud shrieks, and twenty-five feet of the platform, where the crowd was standing, caved in. The broken boards only dropped eight feet, where they were caught by the cross beams and held. Fortunately no space was there for the crowd to fall into, and been seriously injured. The following are the injured as far as known: Miss Lane, M. Grossman, M. Gallagher, Miss Woodward, A. J. Geach, James Williams. The injured people suffered from cuts and bruises, but none were seriously hurt. M. Gallagher, his hip and one or two ribs were broken. A few others were injured, although not seriously.

FIFTY PERSONS DROWNED. Inhuman Russian Peasants Would Not Attempt Rescue Without Pay.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 8.—Full particulars of the burning of the steamer Alfonso near Cossack July 4, have been received. The steamer was laden with bales of wool. The fire, it is supposed, was started by a spark from the pipe of a careless smoker, and the steamer was soon completely enveloped in flames. Through an error on the part of the wharves the vessel ran aground some distance below the landing. The passengers became panic-stricken and dozens jumped overboard. Many were drawn under by the current and by the still revolving propellers. Nearly fifty persons were drowned. The loss of life was caused by the inhuman conduct of peasants on the river bank, who refused to go to the rescue unless they were paid for the work, their demands varying from 100 to 400 roubles for each person. The fire lasted several hours. Everything except the iron work was destroyed. It is believed that if the steamer had not run aground at the time she did, she would have reached the landing and everybody would have been saved.

TYRELL NOT ON DUTY Colonel of the First Regiment Is Relieved Temporarily FOR FREE USE OF HIS TONGUE

He Criticized the Military Board's Action Regarding the Encampment of Troops at the Fair.

LANSING, Mich., July 8.—The commander-in-chief of the military forces of the state has issued an order which has been duplicated in the history of the state militia in times of peace. Fred Shubel, Jr., of this city has been placed in command. Lieutenant Colonel Shubel has already issued an order assuming command of the regiment. DRAMATIC AND LITERARY. Masagni Conducts His Own Opera and Is Enthusiastically Received.

LONDON, July 8.—The first performance of Masagni's "Iris" at the Covent Garden theater last night, owing to the presence of the composer at the conductor's desk, caused a scene of great enthusiasm. Masagni is the lion of the English musical season. He was seen in raising the foot of the gala performance Tuesday, at the conclusion of which his hostess presented him with the jeweled coronet from her fan. At the close of the performance, "Iris" he had four recalls and was presented with a gold baton. The opera, however, cannot be compared to "Cavalleria Rusticana" or even "Amico Fritz," and it is hardly likely to be a permanent success. The general opinion here is that Masagni is overrating himself. It is announced from Berlin that he has just sent the orchestral score of his new opera, "Racine," to the Hof Theater. The Royal Academy at last is making an attempt at a real and much needed reform. The council has discussed and probably will adopt a regulation limiting the contributions of members to the annual exhibition to six and those of outsiders to four pictures. This ordinance, which is only an effort, would be to compel the exhibitors to expend their energies on fewer works than before, but would lighten the selecting committee's difficult task of choosing the best of any works by the same hand.

Clement Scott has returned to his duties as dramatic critic of the Daily Telegraph and draws a striking contrast between English and American theaters. He says the latter have no rivals in the world for comfort, safety and convenience. "Gluck's 'Arminia' will be revived at the Paris opera house next season under the direction of Saint-Saens, who will introduce as far as possible the features of the original production."

BERING SEA CASE IN Mr. Phelps Closed His Long Argument Yesterday AND WAS HIGHLY HONORED

By Baron De Courcel, Who Complimented and Thanked Him for His Masterly Narrative Given.

PARIS, July 8.—The Hon. E. J. Phelps, counsel for the United States, finished his closing address before the Bering sea tribunal of arbitration today. He opposed the British proposal to establish a twenty mile zone within which sealing should be prohibited, basing his objection on the inefficiency of the proposal and upon the impossibility of setting the limits of the zone effectually. All the evidence submitted to the tribunal had shown that seals were taken at sea at distances ranging from 30 to 150 miles from shore. Proceeding to compare the proposed British proposals with those made by Lord Salisbury, he was interrupted by Sir Charles Russell, of counsel for Great Britain, who said that Lord Salisbury denied having made the proposals referred to. Mr. Phelps replied by reading Lord Salisbury's dispatches. He showed that Lord Salisbury had only referred after Canada had intervened. Mr. Phelps then resumed his argument, basing his case on the American prohibition of pelagic sealing over the entire route followed by the seals in their migrations, which route extended as far as San Francisco. If the arbitrators, he said, did not recognize that the United States had property rights in the herd, concurrent regulations would consequently be necessary.

Expect a Hard Winter. ISHMEMING, Mich., July 8.—The Davis Iron Ore company has resumed work. The force employed is only a small one, but the fact that such a concern is about to resume operations is sure to augur well for other companies. Mayor Osborne expects a hard winter for the large number of the unemployed miners and last night recommended to the city council to stop all work on street improvements so as to enable the city to help such families during the winter. The city is at present making big improvements in the sewerage system and these may be stopped.

TYRELL NOT ON DUTY Colonel of the First Regiment Is Relieved Temporarily FOR FREE USE OF HIS TONGUE

He Criticized the Military Board's Action Regarding the Encampment of Troops at the Fair.

LANSING, Mich., July 8.—The commander-in-chief of the military forces of the state has issued an order which has been duplicated in the history of the state militia in times of peace. It is an order suspending John E. Tyrell of Jackson, colonel of the First Infantry, from duty pending an investigation into an alleged grave breach of discipline, and Lieut. Col. Fred Shubel, Jr., of this city has been placed in command. Lieutenant Colonel Shubel has already issued an order assuming command of the regiment. The order suspending Colonel Tyrell was sent by Adjutant General Eaton to Brigadier General Bowen at Ypsilanti Thursday afternoon, and by letter transmitted to Tyrell at Jackson.

DRAMATIC AND LITERARY. Masagni Conducts His Own Opera and Is Enthusiastically Received.

LONDON, July 8.—The first performance of Masagni's "Iris" at the Covent Garden theater last night, owing to the presence of the composer at the conductor's desk, caused a scene of great enthusiasm. Masagni is the lion of the English musical season. He was seen in raising the foot of the gala performance Tuesday, at the conclusion of which his hostess presented him with the jeweled coronet from her fan. At the close of the performance, "Iris" he had four recalls and was presented with a gold baton. The opera, however, cannot be compared to "Cavalleria Rusticana" or even "Amico Fritz," and it is hardly likely to be a permanent success. The general opinion here is that Masagni is overrating himself. It is announced from Berlin that he has just sent the orchestral score of his new opera, "Racine," to the Hof Theater. The Royal Academy at last is making an attempt at a real and much needed reform. The council has discussed and probably will adopt a regulation limiting the contributions of members to the annual exhibition to six and those of outsiders to four pictures. This ordinance, which is only an effort, would be to compel the exhibitors to expend their energies on fewer works than before, but would lighten the selecting committee's difficult task of choosing the best of any works by the same hand.

Clement Scott has returned to his duties as dramatic critic of the Daily Telegraph and draws a striking contrast between English and American theaters. He says the latter have no rivals in the world for comfort, safety and convenience. "Gluck's 'Arminia' will be revived at the Paris opera house next season under the direction of Saint-Saens, who will introduce as far as possible the features of the original production."
